Michael La Manna has over 14 years of experience in the music industry from producing and remixing some of today's top artists to composing for film, television and game production. Michael began his career in the late nineties as the founder of the electronic group Sonic State. He released remixes for artists such as Limp Bizkit, Orgy and Godhead, and was propelled into the underground rave scene, performing live at multiple venues. With the continued success of Sonic State, he established the independent record label ADD Recordings and produced revolutionary tracks that were to be played on radio stations and in clubs around the world. Currently his work as a solo artist can be heard in multiple video games, commercials and websites.

His perfect balance of traditional orchestration combined with his signature post-house electronic sound has taken the audio realm by storm. Whether it is a simple jingle or a complex score, the emotion it generates is unequivocal.
